DECISION IN DESMOND-OTIS CASE

Judgment For the Defendants Given by Judge Greene —Notice of Appeal in the Case of R. A. Lowe vs.
P. E. Hendrick.

On Monday Judge Gardner Greene handed down a decision in the case of Jeremiah J. Desmond, tr., vs. Mary Otis and others, which was completed last week, giving judgment for the defendants. In his memorandum he set forth his decision as follows:

This suit is by the trustee of an express trust against the distributees of the estate of a former trustee of the trust, and the complainant alleges that the deceased trustee, Otis, commingled the trust fund with his own property and that the distributees of his estate have received the fund among the assets distributed to them, and still have it or have consumed it. The relief asked for is a decree requiring them or such of them as have received the estate of the deceased trustee to refund to the trustee the fund, and the imposition of a lien upon the realty left by the deceased trustee to secure such refunding, and also damages.

The evidence, shows, however, that the trustee never commingled the trust fund with his own property, but invested the trust fund in a Minnesota mortgage, and that the distributees closed. The mortgage note was made to said Otis as trustee; the mortgage was not in evidence, and the foreclosure vested the title to the land in "Amos T. Otis, trustee of Mrs. Abby C. Otis." It does not appear that any transfer of title has been since made.
The distributees of Otis' estate received no part of the trust fund. The proof raises from the allegations of the complainant.

The allegations of the complainant conformed to the facts proved, the plaintiff would not be entitled to a decree requiring the distributees of Otis' estate to pay the plaintiff the amount of a trust fund which they received.

If the defendants could be required to pay anything, it does not appear what the amount would be. There is no proof of the present value of the land in which the trust was invested.
It would not be equitable for the plaintiff to take that land and also make
